- 1) NAMA dues are not deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes, but may be partially deductible as a business expense. Consult your tax advisor regarding deductibility. NAMA estimates that 15% of your 2009 dues are not deductible because of NAMA's lobbying activities on behalf of its members.
- 2) Contributions to the NAMA Foundation may be deductible as a charitable contribution for federal income tax purposes. Consult your tax advisor.
- 3) NAMA is a non-profit association, where 100% of your dues go toward industry work and member benefits.
